Established in 1957, the school serves about 890 students in grades 9 through 12. It is the only tribal high school in Oregon, and the only one with a majority Native American student body. The school is an accredited member of the Northwest Association of Secondary Schools and Programs (NWASP). It is part of the Cherokee School District. Academics As of the 2017-2018 school year, CIHS offers a selective enrollment curriculum to students in grades 9 through 12. The Cherokee Indian Middle School and Junior High School serve grades 6 through 8. CIHS is accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, or NWASC, the regional accrediting body for secondary education in the Pacific Northwest. The school has provided educational programs since 1963. It received accreditation in June 2012. In 2012 the school received the highest level of accreditation, the Northwest Accreditation Association, or NWAA, a four-year process. In addition to NWAA accreditation, the school has been accredited by the Northwest Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, or NWASC, since 1973, and the Oregon Association of Independent Schools, or OAIS, since 2000. CIHS is a four-year comprehensive high school, but does not offer IB (International Baccalaureate) programs. CIHS offers 10 academic courses, four dual enrollment classes, two concurrent enrollment classes, Advanced Placement classes, and a 21-credit AP Art course. Students may also take college courses at Ashland Community College or University of Oregon. The school began offering a rigorous athletic curriculum in 2009. It fields teams in baseball, basketball, bowling, football, golf, volleyball, softball, and soccer. CIHS has a small Learning Support Center, an industrial arts classroom, and a media center
